

Liposuction

What is a Liposuction?

Liposuction or lipo is the process of removing fat cells from the areas of the body that contain excess fat with the help of various tools without making any incisions, but by suction holes. Liposuction can be applied to many areas of the body. These areas include the abdomen, waist, back, chest, thighs, upper arms and neck. Thanks to liposuction, body areas with a disproportionate appearance are made more harmonious. It is necessary to clarify a very common mistake about liposuction surgery. Liposuction surgery is not a weight loss surgery. It is the process of removing pockets of fat from these areas in people with normal or near-normal weight. It gives better results in people with firm and thick skin quality.

Liposuction is the process of vacuuming out the subcutaneous fat tissue through the holes opened in the skin with the help of tools called cannulas.

The liposuction surgery is performed via round and long rod-shaped instruments called cannulas. These tools have holes at their tip and are hollow inside.

The cannulas connected to the vacuum device vacuum out the fats under the skin and remove them out.

Why This Surgery?

No matter what we do, there may be fat in certain parts of our body that we cannot get rid of.

Now and then, despite the heaviest exercises and the strictest diets, unwanted fat can remain. In such cases liposuction lends a helping hand as a method that we can get rid of fat regionally.

In addition, our doctor will explain to you how the operation process will proceed after answering all your questions.

02 PROCEDURE

It is important to consider the following before you turn up for your cosmetic surgery.

Quit smoking: Smoking reduces blood flow in the skin. For this reason, we recommend that you quit smoking six weeks before the operation and during the recovery period in order to have a faster recovery process after the operation.

Minimise alcohol: Try to minimise alcohol drinking before the operation. Do not drink alcohol on the day of the operation or stop drinking a few days before. After the operation is completed, you are not allowed to drink alcohol until the medication given to you is finished. Our doctor and team will warn you about this.

General anaesthesia: Your operation will be performed under general anaesthesia. Eat eight hours before the operation. Don't drink water or eat less than six hours before the operation.
